

It may be difficult to convey how strongly I feel regarding the Indiana Do Not Call legislation. I have enjoyed my evenings at home since the legislation. I do not enjoy answering the phone several times a day and being questioned repeatedly why I am not interested in a particular service or product. If I want to do business with you, I know how to use a directory or the internet to find you. I could not be happier with the Indiana Legislation and would like to see stronger fines for those who violate the law. By signing up for the do not call, I have waived any right to whatever cost savings those calling could offer me. I am prepared to spend more money on each business transaction I make to have my evenings free of these pestering phone call. If this legislation is successfully challenged, I will have no other choice than to remove my home phone and go with my cell phone only. This is but a small inconvenience to have quiet time at home. Please, leave well enough alone and allow this Indiana's do not call list in tact.

Thanks
